

XL Training

Want to move up the career ladder in Warehousing?

XL Training offer Modern Apprenticeships in Warehousing to boost the skills and career prospects for those candidates working in a warehousing and logistics role.

These qualifications are very much geared towards warehouse operators helping them develop a greater awareness of the skills needed in the logistics industry.

Staff will not only become technically competent but will also gain other complementary skills to be effective in the workplace for today and in the future.

Distribution and Warehousing Level 2

This qualification is suitable for warehouse operators working in all sectors of industry and commerce. It acknowledges individual responsibility and reinforces organizational practices and procedures.

Develop your skills in:

- Storage and movement of goods
- Health & Safety practice
- Assembling and dispatching goods
- Recycling and maintaining the quality of goods

XL tailors the qualifications to the needs of the business and the skills required to be developed by the individual
